

Target audience

This basic training is aimed towards shippers who need to prepare shipments of dangerous goods for marine transport.

Goal

After attending this training, the participant will be qualified to prepare shipments containing dangerous goods intended to be transported by sea, according to the international and national requirements.

Duration

2 days, 8 hours / day

Training content

This audio-visual supported training will allow participants to acquire the knowledge required by the international and national Regulations on transportation of dangerous goods. We are a training organization accredited by the Commission des partenaires du marché du travail. Our training is eligible under the Act to promote workforce skills development and recognition.

Here are the topics that will be covered:

- Act and Regulations basic requirements
- Use of I.M.D.G. Code
- Classification system - 9 classes
- Classification criteria
- Segregation
- Packaging requirements
- Marking and labelling
- Shipping documents
- Placards
- Loading requirements
- Exemptions
- Emergency measures
- Emergency report

During the training, the participants are encouraged to ask questions. Exercises on the classification of dangerous goods, marking and labelling and shipping documents, among others, will be done during the training. Following each day's training, the attendee must complete a questionnaire to evaluate the knowledge acquired. This questionnaire will be returned to their employer as well as a wall certificate and wallet size certificate.

Training material

- Workbook
- A copy of a safety data sheet
- Dangerous goods classification list
- Guideline for packing of CTU
- Questionnaire
- Pen
- Certificates, wall and wallet pocket size

An I.M.D.G. Code - International Maritime Dangerous Goods Code will be available for the attendee during the training.